

A SONG WRITTEN FOR ENZA

Always By Your Side

Get well

Twenty-six years ago, a single night changed our story,
A simple invitation that led me to something extraordinary.
A friend told you to come to the bar with someone by your side,
But deep inside, that night was meant for us to find.
Back then I was walking through the pain of a broken past,
Going through a divorce, wondering how long the storm would last.
Then you came into my life with your beautiful heart
and grace,
And from that moment on, you brought love into my days.

*Enza, I want you to know how deeply I love you,
Through every difficult moment, I will always stand beside you.
No matter what tomorrow brings or what we have to face,
My hand will be in yours through every step we take.*

We have shared so many chapters, the good and the hard times,
Through moments filled with laughter and moments
we survived.
You were my strength when life felt heavy and unclear,
The one who stayed beside me and showed me you were here.
Now we face a road that neither of us ever wanted to see,
A challenge that has tested your heart and tested me.
But your cancer does not change the love I feel inside,
I will walk every mile with you, always by your side.

*Enza, I want you to feel the love surrounding you,
Every single day I will remind you what is true.
Even when the journey feels too painful or too long,
Together we will keep believing, together we stay strong.*

There are moments when the future feels uncertain
and unknown,
But I want you to remember you will never walk alone.
Every smile we shared, every memory we made,
Is a treasure in my heart that time will never fade.
I see the strength inside you, the courage in your eyes,
The love that you have given me is my greatest prize.
Whatever battles come, whatever days may appear,
I will keep loving you and I will always be here.

*Enza, keep believing there is still hope ahead,
I will hold your hand through every road we tread.
After all these years, my love remains stronger than before,
And I will choose you forever, now and evermore.*

*You are my love, my partner, my greatest part of life,
With all my heart, I will always stand by your side*
