

A SONG WRITTEN FOR TY

Forever by Your Side

Wedding

1:05

3:11

Your little fingers held onto mine
I watched you grow through passing time
With long hair, you were a little boy
You filled my heart with so much joy
Now, a young handsome man you stand
I feel your loving touch in my hand

*TY, my baby, I love you so
I'll be here wherever you go
Today you vow your heart to your wife
My heart is yours for life*

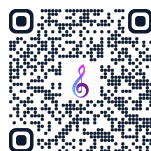

At the pier, you were so glad
My heart held all the joy you had
You chose to have Ray by your side
And now she is your loving bride
We've walked through tough times side by side
And shared our hugs through every tide
You know the moment I need care
Your loving hug is always there

*TY, my baby, I love you so
I'll be here wherever you go
Today you vow your heart to your wife
My heart is yours for life*

On your wedding day, I can see
The love you found was meant to be
May all your days be warm and bright
May you hold close your wife each night

*TY, my baby, I love you so
I'll be here wherever you go
Today you vow your heart to your wife
My heart is yours for life*

*My baby, now a grown young man
I'll keep you close as long as I can*
