

A SONG WRITTEN FOR RYAN

Soulmates in the Sun

Just because

1:28

4:20

Your hands rubbed warm, you turned with a smile
You said hello, and lingered there awhile
You saw me leave the van at work that day “Who’s that?” you thought, as I came down your way
Our first hello still glows so warm and bright
Two memories, both held in tender light

*Ryan, you’re the one my whole heart knew
When I overthink, you still see me through
I hold one truth in every word I say
Always my soulmate, come what may*

In Futurventura, you showed me your sea
You shared the place you loved so much with me
You spoiled me on my birthday with such care
And made that day feel weightless in the air
We were too stoned to take another stride
We only laughed, with beach sand at our side
We waited two years to share our hearts, then hid no more
The lonely tough days brought us what we’d been waiting for

*Ryan, you’re the one my whole heart knew
When I overthink, you still see me through
I hold one truth in every word I say
Always my soulmate, come what may*

Your strong heart teaches mine to trust and stay
I’ll choose you in each new and quiet day
With every hope, I’ll hold your hand in mine Forever, let our souls stay intertwined

*Ryan, you’re the one my whole heart knew
When I overthink, you still see me through
I hold one truth in every word I say
Always my soulmate, come what may*

*That first warm hello still lights my way
Always my soulmate, come what may*
