

A SONG WRITTEN FOR LYNSAY

Sail Free with Me

Valentine's Day

1:13

3:35

In ninety-six I'd just left the army life
And found you, Lyndsay, my one true light
Your gentle heart made room for love to fly
Your kindness warmed the quiet in our home
You called me "Squidgy bum," I had to smile
That little name still makes my day worthwhile

*Lyndsay, this Valentine, my heart is true
We'll sail around the world, just me and you
We'll leave the cold and follow warmer seas
Squidgy bum, come sail free with me*

You'd just lost your mum when we first met
You carried on with courage, I'll never forget
In Cyprus, we were married side by side
That day, our hearts were open wide
You're such a loving mum, so full of care
Your kindness brings a warmth beyond compare
You call me "Squidgy bum," I still smile
That little name makes every day worthwhile

*Lyndsay, this Valentine, my heart is true
We'll sail around the world, just me and you
We'll leave the cold and follow warmer seas
Squidgy bum, come sail free with me*

From ninety-six till now, you've stood by me
On Valentine's Day, I promise you
To keep this dream of sailing in my view
We'll seek warm weather out beyond the sea
And let the open water set us free

*Lyndsay, this Valentine, my heart is true
We'll sail around the world, just me and you
We'll leave the cold and follow warmer seas
Squidgy bum, come sail free with me*

*Your gentle heart still shines across the blue
And every tide will bring me back to you*
