

A SONG WRITTEN FOR FAYDEN

Miles Apart, Hearts Together

Just because

1:06

3:14

The first time, our two lives met there
Neither knew how much we would share
Then, sick, you slept held close to me
I watched you rest so peacefully
That still night made one thing clear
The smallest moments draw me near

*Fayden, in hard days, you can lean on me
I'll meet your tears with all I can be
The miles can't break the love we've begun
No matter the distance, we stand as one*

Home-cooked meals made ordinary glow
Hand in hand through errands, moving slow
The miles can make the hard days long
I miss your voice when days go wrong
We've found our way back yet again
Still choosing us through doubt and strain
These miles are part, not story's end
I know we'll find our way again

*Fayden, in hard days, you can lean on me
I'll meet your tears with all I can be
The miles can't break the love we've begun
No matter the distance, we stand as one*

I'll show up in the ways I can
To offer you a steady hand
On tired days, just breathe and know
We'll take this journey soft and slow

*Fayden, in hard days, you can lean on me
I'll meet your tears with all I can be
The miles can't break the love we've begun
No matter the distance, we stand as one*

*Across the miles, my heart stays near
One day at a time, I'm here*
