A SONG WRITTEN FOR PIYAPAT

Guiding Light

Anniversary

You said hello, so bright and clear
Your gentle smile held all the light
And suddenly you felt so near
I said, “Good night,” with shy delight
So small, so cute, you made me smile
Your warmth still stays with me awhile

> Piyapat, you lift my heart up high
> God bless you, my little one, my sun
> Your smile brings sunlight to my sky
> May God bless you, my own little one

When we lost our home, the world stood still
You kept your smile, you had the will
Your smile became my guiding light
It helped me through each longest night
Your small, cute ways are always dear
Your smile brings comfort when you’re near
Your smiling face can calm my fears
And dry the rain behind my tears

> Piyapat, you lift my heart up high
> God bless you, my little one, my sun
> Your smile brings sunlight to my sky
> May God bless you, my own little one

I’ll keep your “hello” close to me
And let your smile set my heart free
On this anniversary, I pray
May God watch over you each day

> Piyapat, you lift my heart up high
> God bless you, my little one, my sun
> Your smile brings sunlight to my sky
> May God bless you, my own little one

That first hello still lights my way
May God bless you, now and always
