

A SONG WRITTEN FOR BERNADETTE

Shining Bright

Is fighting cancer

1:08

3:20

In pink, our little flower girl, at three
Your blue eyes smiled right back at me
You made the whole room laugh that day
Your black humour still lights the way
In local plays, your art takes flight
Your leading roles fill hearts with light

*Bernadette, your future's still in sight
You're loved and needed, hold on tight
Your laughter turns the dark to light
Your future still is shining bright*

Cian, your adored son, a man now
Is everything you hold so dear
Your black humour still knows just how
To bring a little sunlight near
You've lived and lost, yet still you smile
I see your courage burning bright
I'll walk beside you every mile
And hold your hand through every fight

*Bernadette, your future's still in sight
You're loved and needed, hold on tight
Your laughter turns the dark to light
Your future still is shining bright*

Cancer may ask much of your days
Your humour will not fade away
Your future's waiting, clear and bright
And I'll stay close through every fight

*Bernadette, your future's still in sight
You're loved and needed, hold on tight
Your laughter turns the dark to light
Your future still is shining bright*

*May blue eyes keep their fearless light
Your future still is shining bright*
