

A SONG WRITTEN FOR CERI

Growing Old Together

Just because

1:26

4:13

In that pub, after twenty years apart
You walked in and came straight back to my heart
We had known each other when we were young
Then all at once, our new life had begun
Eighteen years have held us side by side
A love that time could never turn aside

*Kerry, I want to grow old by your side
Just because, I love you more each day
May your family find happiness and pride
Grow old together, come what may*

Your kindness finds the good in every day
You give your love in such a gentle way
You work so hard, your heart stays open wide
For every animal you stand beside Your family feel the warmth you always bring
Like light that gathers softly in the spring
Alfie and tia were so dear
We lost them, but their love stays near

*Kerry, I want to grow old by your side
Just because, I love you more each day
May your family find happiness and pride
Grow old together, come what may*

Whatever years may bring along our way I'll choose you, love you more with every day
We'll walk ahead, whatever time may send And keep on growing old, my dearest friend

*Kerry, I want to grow old by your side
Just because, I love you more each day
May your family find happiness and pride
Grow old together, come what may*

From that pub, I found my way to you Eighteen years, and still my love is true
