

A SONG WRITTEN FOR LYNDSEY

Lyndsey

Just because

1:15

3:40

One drink, then more, we danced across the floor
I begged you, "Please don't drive that car tonight"
Your smile was fading as you asked for more
I was so stubborn, trying to make it right
"Taxi, please," I said, "go home alone"
I left you there, still smiling on your own

*Lyndsey, I'll always love you through the night
Your courage keeps on burning bright
No road can take our love away
Because of you we love each day*

Inside the car, the shattered glass flew free
Without your seatbelt, fear came over me
You fought for life through all that pain and fear
I wished that I had just been standing near
One blink for no, two blinks became your yes
Each little sign showed courage, nothing less
I'm sorry that I left you there that night
Yet somehow you kept finding strength to fight

*Lyndsey, you held my heart through all the pain
And helped me find myself again
No road can take our love away
Because of you we love each day*

Lisa, it was never your fault, we want you to know
Six long years you cared for her, you put your life on hold
Your blonde hair, blue eyes beside her dark hair, brown
Two sisters side by side, you never let her down

Look ahead, we'll find our way,
The darkest clouds will drift away,
Where Grandad's daffodils dance and sway,
And hear the robins sing each day.

*Lyndsey, I'll always love you through the night
Your courage keeps on burning bright
No road can take our love away
I'll always love you every day*

*You should be proud of what you've done, Kielan loves you more than anyone.
We all care and love you too,
And we'll always be here for you.
Every day and every night,
We'll hold your hand and make things right*
