

A SONG WRITTEN FOR PATTI

Cherished Memories

Birthday

1:00

2:57

Your holiday cards arrive with cheer
Each little note draws loved ones near
From baking, cooking, recipes rise
And fill the room with sweet surprise
You think of others, full of care
An older sister, always there

*Patti, happy birthday, loved today
Your thoughtful heart still lights the way
A sister and aunt, cherished so
Eighty-five years loved, we know*

On trips to Cincinnati, side by side
New York City lit the way
In Italy, our hearts opened wide
In Paris, memories still stay
My older sister, warm and kind
Your care has filled our days with grace
A cherished aunt, you're on my mind
Your thoughtful ways still leave their trace

*Patti, happy birthday, loved today
Your thoughtful heart still lights the way
A sister and aunt, cherished so
Eighty-five years loved, we know*

May this birthday bring you cheer
May loving voices gather near
May all your kindness come to you
In every wish so bright and true

*Patti, happy birthday, loved today
Your thoughtful heart still lights the way
A sister and aunt, cherished so
Eighty-five years loved, we know*

*Your cards and recipes remain
Like sunlight after gentle rain*
