A SONG WRITTEN FOR YOBO

Homecoming Melody

Anniversary

At our wedding in Korea
The future felt so near
We spoke our vows beneath the light
And held that moment bright
Our hearts were set on what we'd share
With all our love laid bare

> Yobo, this anniversary
> My heart comes home where it belongs
> No road can take that home from me
> Forever, you are my song

When Lisa was born, our hearts grew wide
When Kim was born, you beamed with pride
You gave our family patient care
And worked so hard, with love to spare
Military service kept us apart
Yet home stayed clear inside my heart
Then truck roads took me far away
I knew where I would end each day

> Yobo, this anniversary
> My heart comes home where it belongs
> No road can take that home from me
> Forever, you are my song

Each anniversary, I see
The home your love has made in me
I'll keep returning, that is true
There is no other home but you

> Yobo, this anniversary
> My heart comes home where it belongs
> No road can take that home from me
> Forever, you are my song

Still, every road turns toward your door
And I come home to you once more
