

A SONG WRITTEN FOR AMBER

Enduring Amber

Just because

1:22

4:00

Beer soaked my pants in my sister's kitchen
I stood there in a strange condition
You said, "Take them off," in front of my wife
That bold hello still lives in my life
Twenty years, we both grew apart
Seven years back, you found my heart

*Amber, my heart still flutters when we kiss
Through all this strain, I know that we are strong
No pain can take away our bliss
You're the only place I belong*

We hiked together to waterfalls
Their echoes still come through it all
Tent camping, dirt bikes, mud and sun
Hunny bunny, you make it fun
Day or night, you've got your coffee
My best friend, you still comfort me
Your flowing light red hair catches light
Your beautiful eyes still shine so bright

*Amber, my heart still flutters when we kiss
Through all this strain, I know that we are strong
No pain can take away our bliss
You're the only place I belong*

You're a nurse with such steady hands
For the elderly, there you stand
Your children and mine get your care
For any child, you're always there
There's no part of life without you
I don't want the rest without you
You are selfless in all that you do
I love this whole world less than you

No special day, just all my love
This back pain tests what we're made of Still, we are stronger, come what may
I pray we'll marry one sweet day

*Amber, my heart still flutters when we kiss
Through all this strain, I know that we are strong
No pain can take away our bliss
You're the only place I belong*

Through every storm, my love, you're always near Amber, I'll love you more with every year
