

A SONG WRITTEN FOR LAN

Eternal Paths

Christmas

1:26

4:13

When other women drift a little near
You think they came to lure me far away
Yet you make every heavy moment clear
And turn my storms into a lighter day
Your patient heart makes every worry small
You give so much, yet never count it all

*Lan, through every lifetime, I'll find you
No matter where the distant roads may start
Across all time, I'll follow to your heart
Forever, I will always find you*

In 2024, I slipped away
You pulled me from the brink and made me stay
Through thick and thin, you would not let me fall
Your patient love was there through it all
Three years ago, our paths began to meet Your funny laugh can make the hard days sweet
Four years have shown your humble, giving heart
And every day, you choose to do your part

*Lan, through every lifetime, I'll find you
No matter where the distant roads may start
Across all time, I'll follow to your heart
Forever, I will always find you*

At Christmas, may the candles softly glow
I'll keep on finding you where life may go Whatever comes, my hand will reach for yours
Across all lifetimes, through uncounted doors

*Lan, through every lifetime, I'll find you
No matter where the distant roads may start
Across all time, I'll follow to your heart
Forever, I will always find you*

*Your laughter lingers softly in the air
I'll find you, darling, anywhere*
