A SONG WRITTEN FOR A GIRL

Heart's Longing for Light

Just because

On the rocky bed I fell
Inside the cold sea, lost from me
I asked who I could ever tell
Where I could not myself see
The water crushed me deep inside
I felt as though to self I'd lied

> Take me along toward the light
> I miss the bliss beyond this night
> My heart is waiting to be free
> Till my heart comes back to me

I spoke to shards beneath the tide
I pleaded with the hardened stone
My moans broke pieces at my side
They sent out pensive tones alone
Those ripples woke the pain in me
All round, the sea was sorrow's sound
I longed to feel again so free
Within the dark that held me down

> Take me along toward the light
> I miss the bliss beyond this night
> My heart is waiting to be free
> Till my heart comes back to me

You told me, "No, you are too strong"
You said I was a perfect fit
I still long for where I belong
Just because, I sing of it

> Take me along toward the light
> I miss the bliss beyond this night
> My heart is waiting to be free
> Till my heart comes back to me

I wait for joy to set me free
Until my heart returns to me
