A SONG WRITTEN FOR DANNI

Endless Choices

Just because

At Irish Murphy's, I caught your eye
I felt an instant pull begin
That first hello lit up the sky
Your warmth and fire just drew me in
Your caring heart would hold me near
Your fierce, warm love was crystal clear

> Danni, I'd choose you come what may
> Through every season, joy and pain
> You are my home along the way
> I would still choose you once again

In Wynyard, toes burned on the sheets
That little spark was hard to tame
In my driveway, seven seconds leaped
From "not tonight" into a flame
At Beer Barrel Beach, our hearts were sure
We knew that we were each the one
We said our vows there by the shore
The loss of Skittles dimmed our sun

> Danni, I'd choose you come what may
> Through every season, joy and pain
> You are my home along the way
> I would still choose you once again

I only want to grow old with you
With every day we have to share
I will keep this love forever true
And keep our home within my care

> Danni, I'd choose you come what may
> Through every season, joy and pain
> You are my home along the way
> I would still choose you once again

That rock still holds our quiet vow
At Beer Barrel Beach, I choose you now
