A SONG WRITTEN FOR PATRICIA

Rock Beneath My Feet

Anniversary

1:23 4:04

At karaoke, your friends took the floor
They sang “Love Shack”, and I wanted more
Your biggest smile lit up all the room
I knew my wandering heart would bloom
I was hooked there and then, plain to see
You brought a calmer world to me

> Patricia, you’re the rock beneath my feet
> Your patience made the wild in me retreat
> Without you, I would not be here today
> I love you more each day

In Wales, our kayak spun in circles wide
Your injured shoulder would not let us glide
I cried with laughter at each wayward turn
And watched your patient smile return
Your father died of cancer; years went by Then dementia took your mother’s life
Nineteen years apart, twice torn by grief
Each month, you tend their grave, your love’s relief

> Patricia, you’re the rock beneath my feet
> Your patience made the wild in me retreat
> Without you, I would not be here today
> I love you more each day

After all of this time, it is true
Thirty-three years, still me and you
Perhaps it’s time we got married
To speak the vows my heart has carried

> Patricia, you’re the rock beneath my feet
> Your patience made the wild in me retreat
> Without you, I would not be here today
> I love you more each day

The music fades, but I am near
My heart has found its harbour here
