A SONG WRITTEN FOR YVONNE

Unity in Color

At elections, red met blue in rain
Two colors carried hope and pain
Red held its courage, fierce and bright
Blue brought its peace into the night
Like roses glowing in first light
We found our hearts could still unite

> Yvonne, through every shade we knew
> Your red and blue still shine so true
> Let every difference make us strong
> Red and blue belong

Through elections, we watched the colors turn
Some days were hard, with more to learn
Red was the fire that would not fade
Blue was the calm your kindness made
Roses glowed softly in the gray
Blue skies still waited past the day
When all the noise had lost its hold
Our different colors warmed the cold

> Yvonne, through every shade we knew
> Your red and blue still shine so true
> Let every difference make us strong
> Red and blue belong

Through elections, I stayed close to you
Blue skies stretched calm and bright for you
Red was your heartbeat, bold and strong
Blue was the quiet sea all along
The blue breeze moved on gentle wings
Red was the fire that dances and sings
Each color had its part to do
Side by side, both proud and true

May freedom find us on the way
May red and blue still light the day
I'll hold the hope your colors bring
Until our quiet hearts can sing

> Yvonne, through every shade we knew
> Your red and blue still shine so true
> Let every difference make us strong
> Red and blue belong

Roses and blue skies still remain
Red and blue outlast the rain
