A SONG WRITTEN FOR JIM

Home to Me

Birthday

On our blind date, the evening felt brand-new
I left my umbrella in your car
I hoped you'd call, I hoped you wanted to
That little chance has brought us very far
Fifty-three years, your hand still feels like home
My truest friend, in all we've come to know

> Jim, on this special birthday, please know
> How much we love you, more than words can show
> Your honest heart still anchors me
> You're still home to me

After our wedding, Virginia called our name
Two years later, we returned back home
We left Virginia, but love stayed the same
We bought a house where our family could grow
Three daughters know your devoted care
Nine grandchildren make every room bright
With our parents gone, we held each other near
Your steady love still turns the dark to light

> Jim, on this special birthday, please know
> How much we love you, more than words can show
> Your honest heart still anchors me
> You're still home to me

May this birthday bring you joy today
For all the years you've given us your heart
I'll walk beside you, come what may
In every day, a brand-new start

> Jim, on this special birthday, please know
> How much we love you, more than words can show
> Your honest heart still anchors me
> You're still home to me

Our house still holds the life we've made
And I am grateful every day
