A SONG WRITTEN FOR JASON

Everlasting Pride

Birthday

1:06 3:13

Happy birthday, Jason, full of laughter and joy
Happiness follows you, our bright-eyed boy
After Yasi, our home was gone
Your dad said, “Son, our friends need hands”
You wore his boots and carried on
Too big, you helped where tarps would stand
With a beautiful heart, you stood tall
Giving your best, you gave it all

> Jason, you bring laughter to my days
> You always think of us in caring ways
> On your birthday, I can rejoice
> My everlasting pride and joy

By Dad’s beach hut in little old Cardwell
We fished the islands, camping by the sea
Each wave would ring a bright familiar bell
That wide blue world was where you felt most free
You packed your bright red port for Bali’s sun
I said, change that red port, you’d stand out from me
I gave you consulate numbers, just in case, my son
You shrugged and laughed, “Mum, don’t worry,” light and free

> Jason, you bring laughter to my days
> You always think of us in caring ways
> On your birthday, I can rejoice
> My everlasting pride and joy

Keep working hard, keep playing hard
Keep looking out for all your mates
May every road still call you far
My love will wait at every gate

> Jason, you bring laughter to my days
> You always think of us in caring ways
> On your birthday, I can rejoice
> My everlasting pride and joy

Your big brown eyes still hold the sea
Your laughter is my melody
