A SONG WRITTEN FOR DAKOTA

Ranching Dreams

Birthday

1:09 3:24

We met as neighbors, close to home
Then came our first kiss in our field
Our two hearts never walked alone
Where all our truest hopes were sealed
We said our vows there in that field
And lived the ranching dream we'd dreamed

> Dakota, you're my love, my life
> I'll wait and work my way to you
> I'll face each turn of strife
> I'll stand my ground for you

On horses, we'd ride side by side
Through ranching dreams we made our own
In Razers, we'd ride with open pride
With every mile, our love had grown
Past relationships had left their trace
We crossed those changes hand in hand
Yet love still found its steady place
Together, learning how to stand

> Dakota, you're my love, my life
> I'll wait and work my way to you
> I'll face each turn of strife
> I'll stand my ground for you

Your birthday, I will celebrate
The love you give so tenderly
No matter what, I'll choose to wait
And stand my ground where you can see

> Dakota, you're my love, my life
> I'll wait and work my way to you
> I'll face each turn of strife
> I'll stand my ground for you

Our field still holds the vows we made
My love will never fade away
