A SONG WRITTEN FOR ANDREY

Home of Freedom

Just because

On quiet nights at home, the lights are low
You hold me close and make the whole room glow
We bought a home and made its walls our own
A place where every part of us has grown
Your happy eyes can chase the clouds away
Your gentle smile still brightens every day

> Andrey, you gave my life a reason why
> You gave me freedom, let my whole self fly
> Your love says every part of me is free
> Now I'm who I was meant to be

When ICE detained you, time moved far too slow
For twenty-four long days, I missed you so
We fought to stay together through the strain
And held on tight through every drop of rain
Through hard work, your own business took its flight
That steady fire still turns the dark to light
Your caring arms make all my fears feel known
With you, I know I'm never on my own

> Andrey, you gave my life a reason why
> You gave me freedom, let my whole self fly
> Your love says every part of me is free
> Now I'm who I was meant to be

Whatever comes, I'll meet it by your side
No part of me will ever need to hide
I'll choose our home, our laughter, and our light
And love you freely, every day and night

> Andrey, you gave my life a reason why
> You gave me freedom, let my whole self fly
> Your love says every part of me is free
> Now I'm who I was meant to be

On quiet nights, I'll hold you close and see
The life you made possible in me
