A SONG WRITTEN FOR JOSH

Miles Apart, Hearts Together

Just because

1:42 5:00

You flew from New York to Brighton, England
One night through Lewes alleys, hand in hand
That summer, every mile began to bend
I felt the world grow softer where we'd stand
Your patience made the distance fade from view
And every quiet step led back to you

> josh, I miss your touch, your warmth, your gaze
> I see the longing written in your eyes
> Across the miles, I dream of your embrace
> I long to hold you close, no more goodbyes

When work kept you close to your laptop screen
You held me in your arms, calm and serene
Your wise words made the noisy hours slow
Your tender heart made every silence glow
But distance leaves an echo in my room
I miss your warmth when evening comes too soon
Your love is in the way you look at me
I long to feel your cuddle close to me

> josh, I miss your touch, your warmth, your gaze
> I see the longing written in your eyes
> Across the miles, I dream of your embrace
> I long to hold you close, no more goodbyes

Your patient heart still meets me through the miles
Your affectionate gaze can make me smile
Your wise words make the restless hours slow
Your passion leaves a warmth I always know
But distance leaves its echo in my room
I miss your arms when evening comes too soon
Your loving eyes still speak so clear to me
I wait to feel your cuddle close to me

No special day, I write because you're dear Across these miles, I keep you ever near Until these miles no longer keep us apart
I'll keep your warmth alive within my heart

> josh, I miss your touch, your warmth, your gaze
> I see the longing written in your eyes
> Across the miles, I dream of your embrace
> I long to hold you close, no more goodbyes

Your arms are where my thoughts return at night
I keep your warmth beneath the soft moonlight

Scan to listen to your song

YOURMELODY
ORIGINAL EDITION · NO. 25643