A SONG WRITTEN FOR BRANDON

Together Through the Pain

Just because

I didn't know what I should say
Yet love was there from that first day
I watched your little face so new
And felt my whole world turn to you
I drew you slowly to my chest
I wished that you could safely rest

> Brandon, we face every fear
> And laugh when hard days draw near
> Even aching wounds may remain
> Together, we laugh through the pain

When they had to operate that day
Your hernia left me full of fear
I prayed that you would be okay
To hold you close and keep you near
On Harry Potter's rides, we flew
We faced our fears the whole way through
Those happy moments made us smile
And stay with me all the while

> Brandon, we face every fear
> And laugh when hard days draw near
> Even aching wounds may remain
> Together, we laugh through the pain

I'll walk beside you as you grow
Through every question, come what may
We'll meet the highs and all the lows
And find a laugh along the way

> Brandon, we face every fear
> And laugh when hard days draw near
> Even aching wounds may remain
> Together, we laugh through the pain

Those happy moments softly glow
And light the paths wherever we go
